Foreword

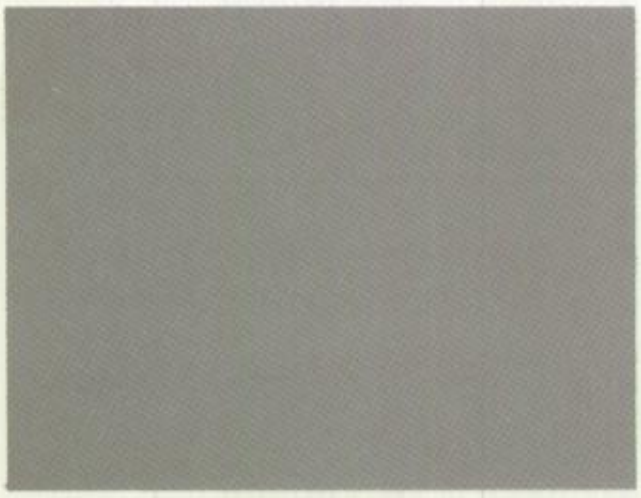
Summer days begin to wane . . . vacation travels draw to a close and school opens its doors to learning . . . cooler weather soon sets in . . . nature takes on her crimson robes . . . frost finally severs the life veins of nature and golden leaves flutter earthward . . . football weather has arrived . . . band formations . . . cheerleaders tears . . . victory shouts . . . all bring on the memorable long-awaited homecoming.

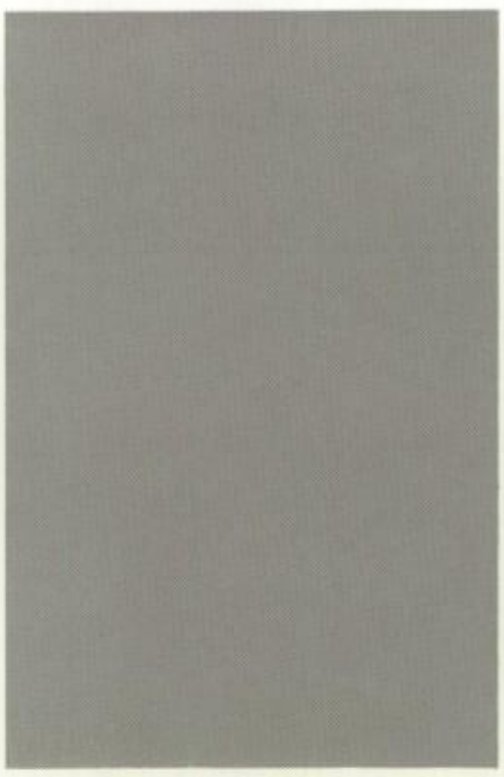
Now the air is always brisk . . . breath is frosted . . . winter coats are donned and worn for the first time of the season to the senior class play . . . time again passes . . . the fury of winter rages outside . . . warmth and excitement reign within as the students cheer the basketball team on to victory.

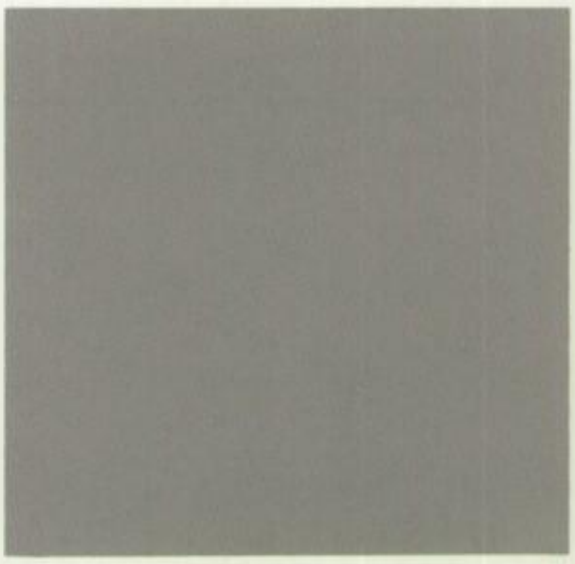
Winter's reign has reached its end . . . soft spring breezes replace the blustery gusts . . . the sun warms the earth, bringing it back to life . . . students too are renewed and revived . . . new sports are initiated . . . some try their hand at wrestling, golf, and tennis . . . the birds constantly chirp their melodies . . . the operetta and its songs envelope the hearts of all.

The days grow even longer . . . baseball fills the final evening hours . . . seniors spend their last days at Calvert . . . amidst the beauty of spring. May approaches . . . the brown grass changes to its velvety green carpet . . . flowers burst into bloom . . . Mary is crowned Queen . . . summer has returned again . . . graduation is over all too soon . . . as the student leaves, the school doors close for the summer . . . vacation begins again.

This is the way the year progressed . . . it is the way we would like you to remember it.







Dedication

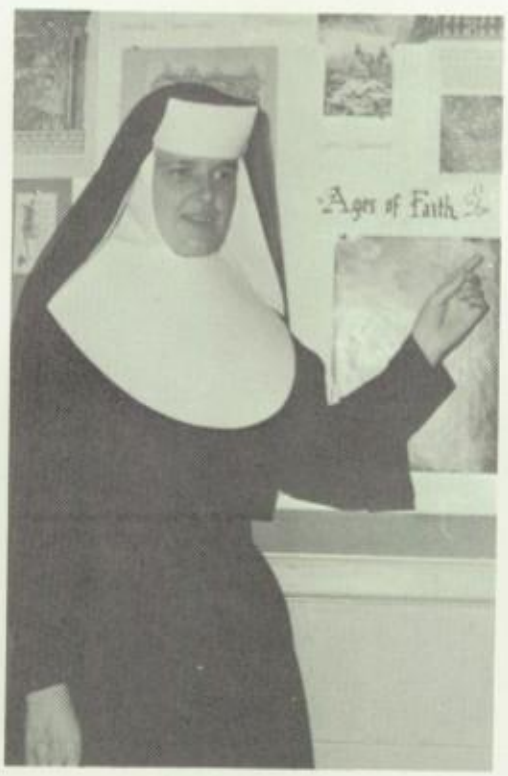
in appreciation for all she has done for us and for which we can never truly repay her. As a teacher, she has not only contributed to our scholastic achievement but she has impressed upon us the importance of always giving the best of ourselves. As advisor of both the Calvert News and the Calvertana staffs, she has spent many long hours poring over and offering solutions to the many problems brought to her. As a friend she has won the love of those near her and has guided us in any way she could. For these reasons and many more, we dedicate this Calvertana to Sister Mary Scholastica.

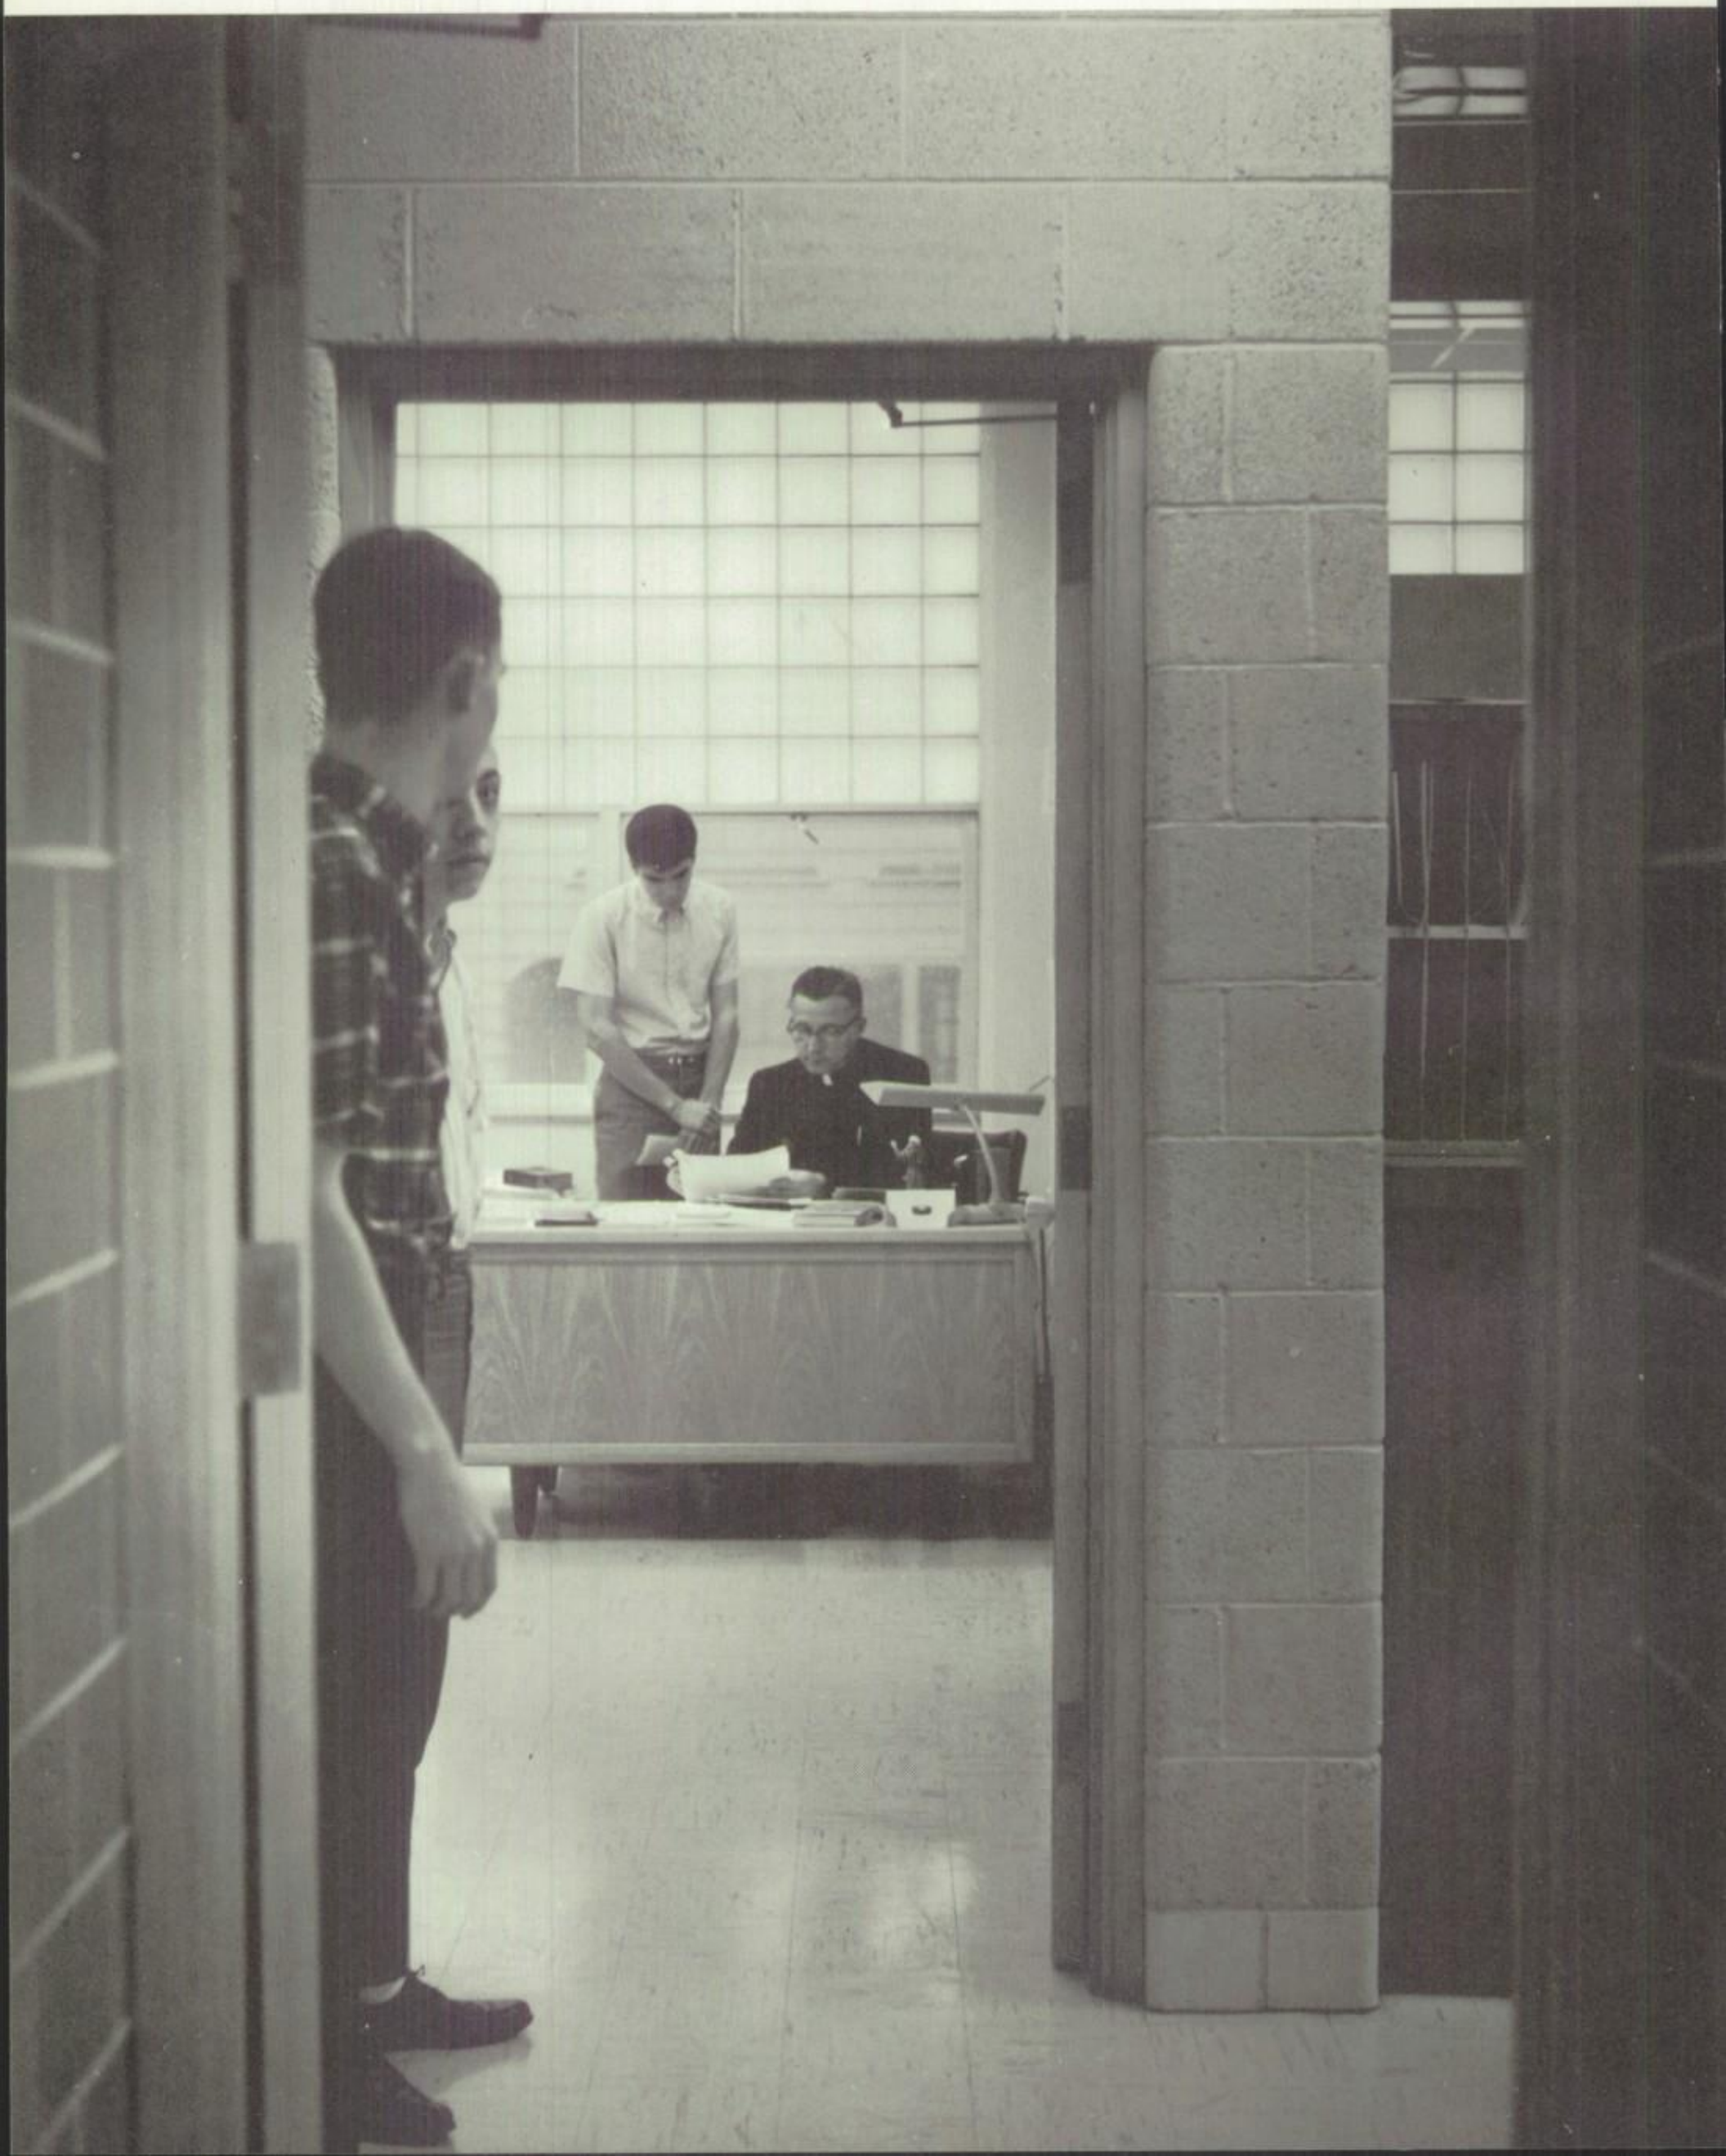
A pensive mood prevails as Sister helps Calvert Newspage editors, Timothy Fox and Joseph Nitecki, work out a lay-out problem.



An art enthusiast, Sister adds interest to the study of literature by pointing out similarities between the writings and the paintings of the different eras.

Upon checking through a group of pictures to be used in the yearbook, Sister finds humor in one depicting a scene from Monsignor Dunn's feast day play.

New School Year Begins As Students



Come for Books, Schedules, Lockers

New freshmen and returning upperclassmen are welcomed by Monsignor and Father Mueller.

During the week before school opens, students again fill the halls. Freshmen can be found roving the halls searching for their classrooms and lockers and acquainting themselves with the building. Seniors, however, prepare for their last year in the familiar halls and plan for their future whether it be college or a job following graduation.

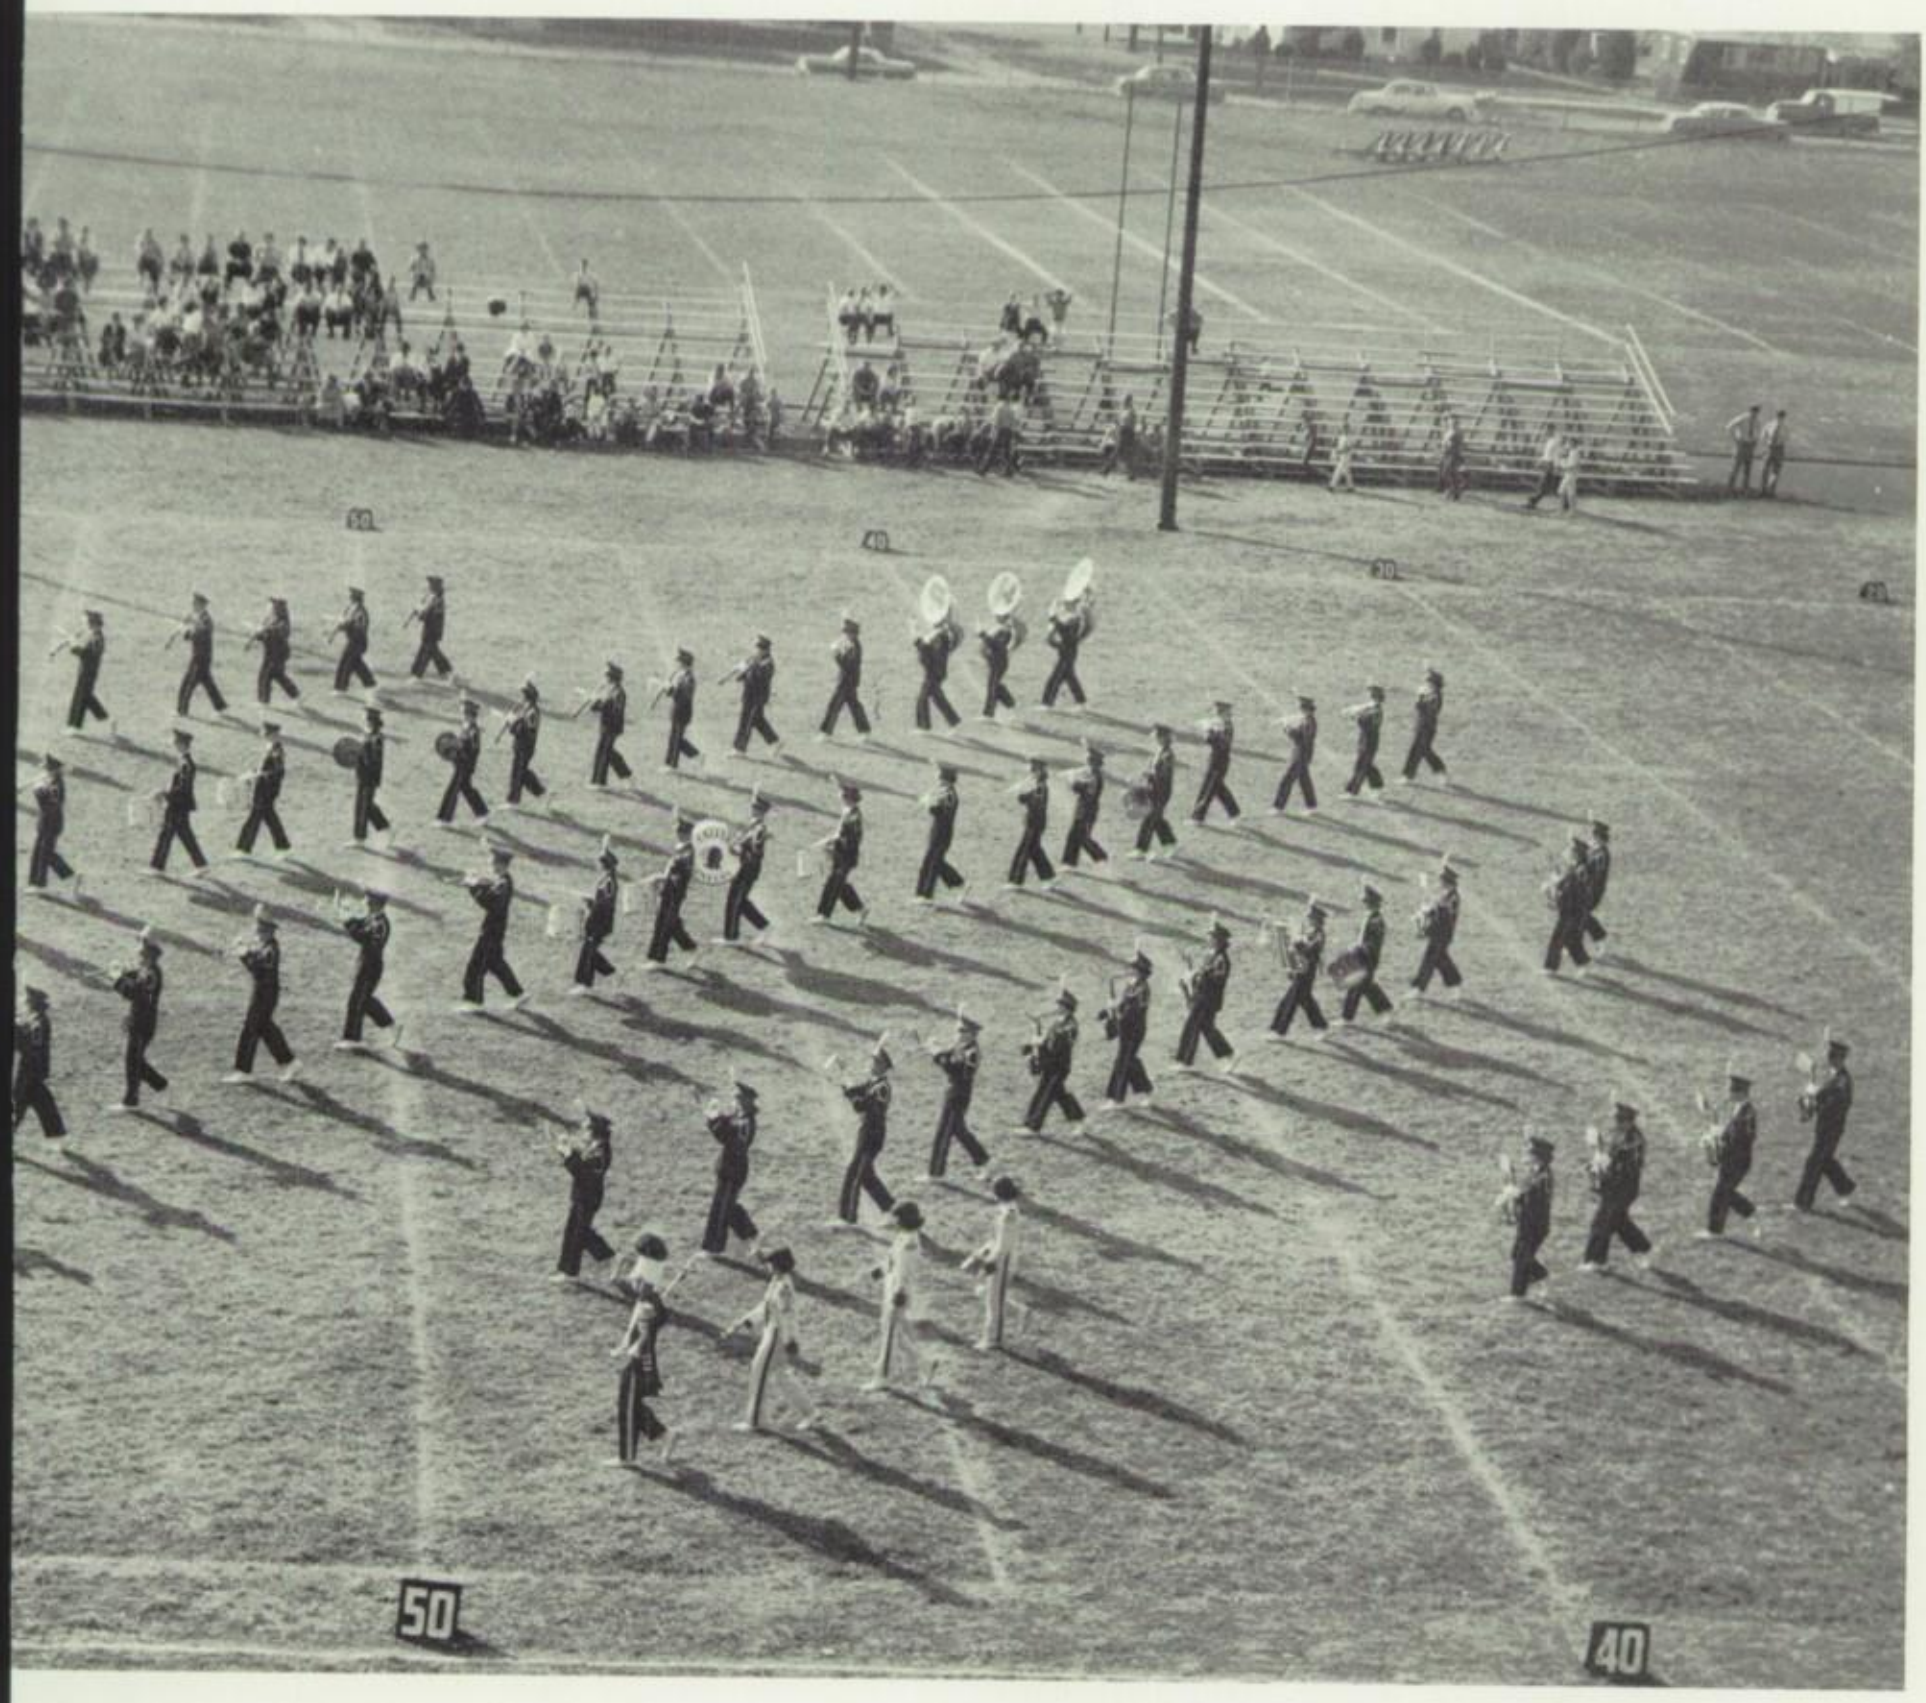
FRESHMEN: Patricia Banks, David Bohnlein, Robert Breidenbach, Nancy Gerber, Thomas Hoepf, Margaret Hoover, Ronald King, Ruth LaFountaine, and Sharon Marchetto.

Excellent teamwork and precision routines are performed at halftime by Calvert's majorettes, Shirley Breidenbach, Barbara Pacifico, head majorette, and Laura Dow.

First Step in Acquiring Quality



President of the band, Paul Shireman, reads a letter of congratulations on their fine performance at Margaretta to the other officers, Francine Ledwedge, Robert Russell, and Jeanne Wank.

Inspired by Spirit, Urged by Fans,

ROW ONE: J. Gaietto, D. Distel, P. Panuto, M. Hess, L. Hoover, J. Kastner, J. Lutz, R. Corthell, J. Hartzell, F. Doepker, R. Chadwick, J. Lee, J. Burger, R. Ritzler, M. Phillips, D. Brady. Always on hand to tend the injuries of the team, Mike Fisher, head manager, flexes the knee of an injured Seneca.

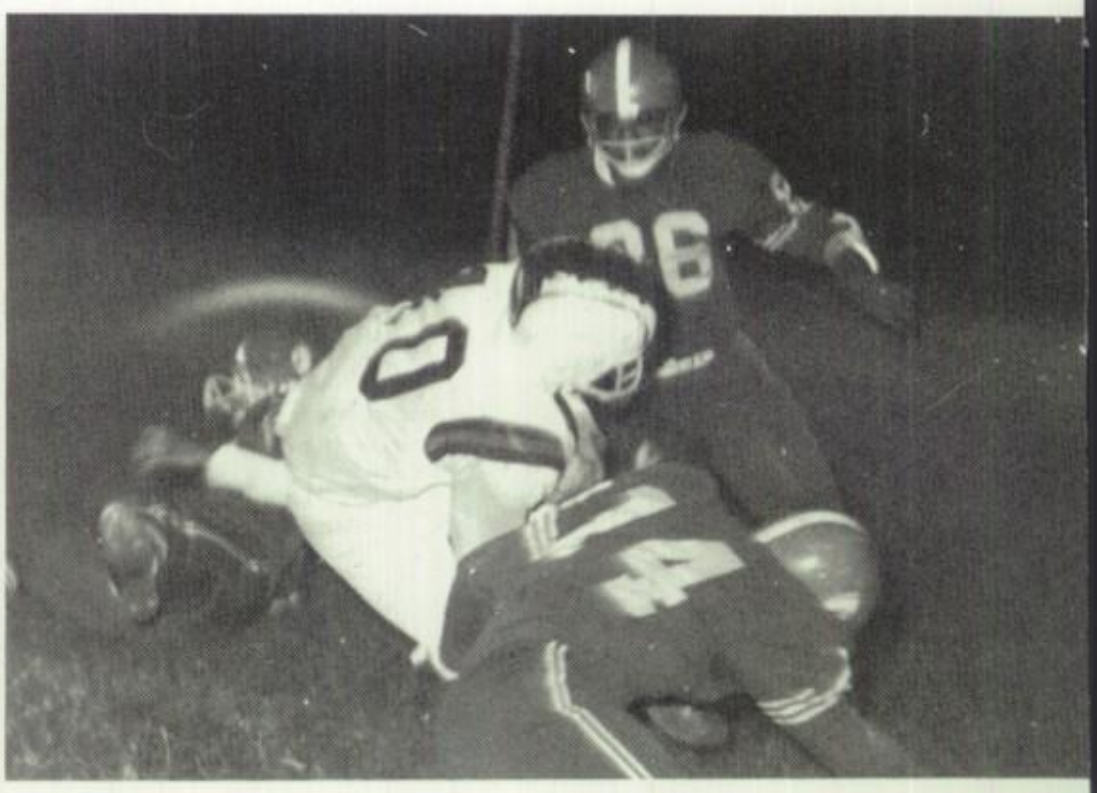
A Cardinal Stritch player attempts to gain yardage but is halted by Joe Houck and Jim Steyer.

Ball carrier Tim Fox attempts to stay in the running but is downed by an Oak Harbor player.

Mighty Senecas Take to Warpath for

Most Valuable Player of the 1963 and 1964 seasons, Tim Fox, proves once more his value to the team as he escapes the clutches of the opponents.



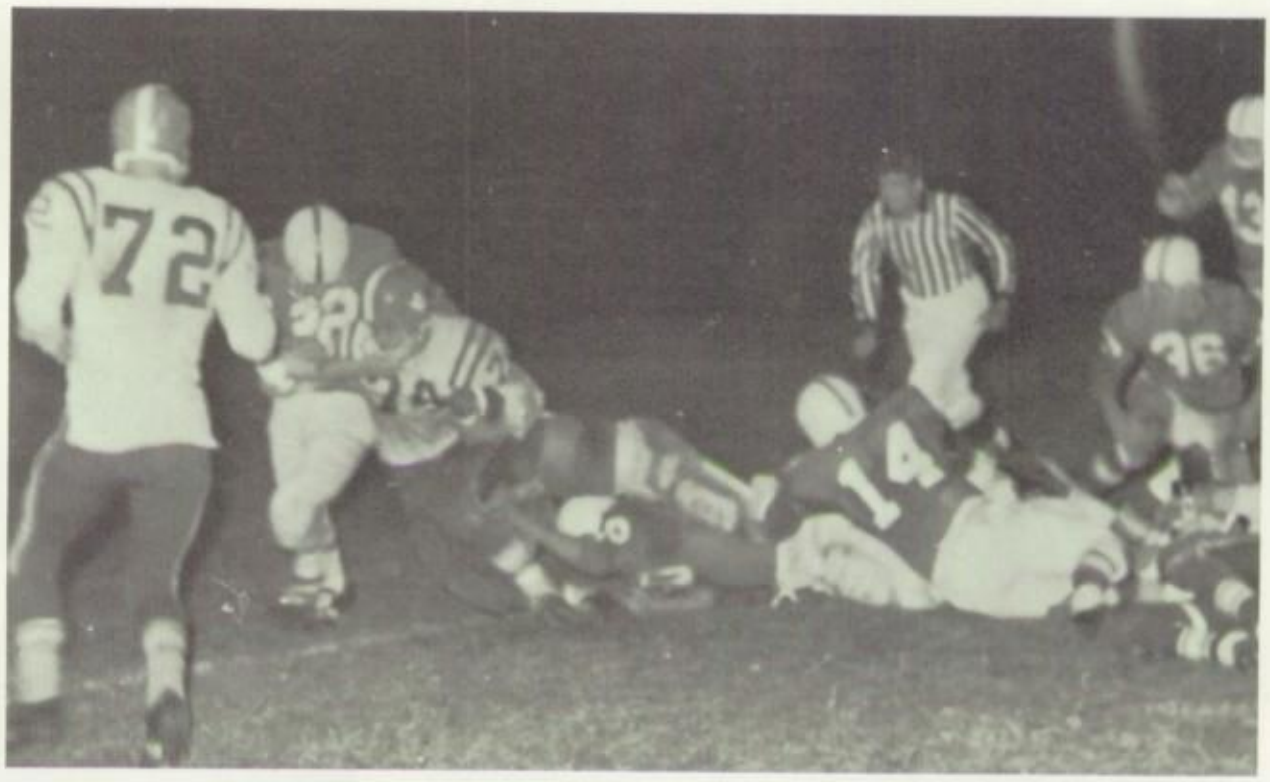
A determined Lakota player is tackled by an even more determined Calvert duo, Jim Steyer and Carl Werner.

A Lakota Raider is about to forfeit a touchdown as he is attacked by Jim Steyer and Dave Ritzler.

With a few words of encouragement, Mac McGinnis tries to console a sorrowful loser in the Calvert-Lakota game.

About to cause trouble for the opposition, Joe Clark, Dave Ritzler, and Tim Fox precede ball carrier Frank Perna down the field.

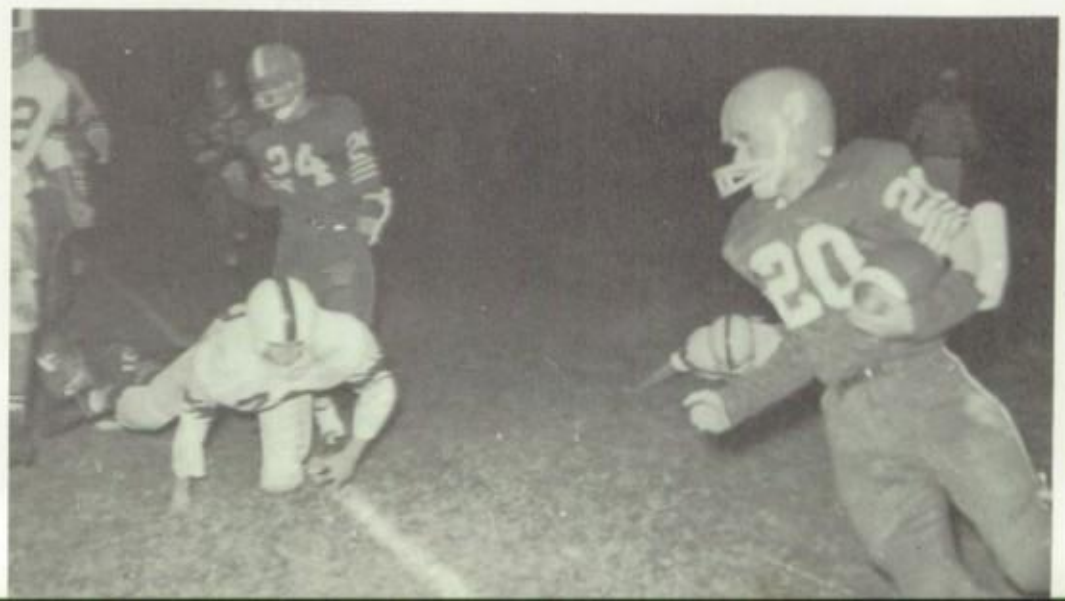
Hard-Fought Success on Gridiron



Stringing out tacklers in his wake, Roger Dariano plunges forward while Joe Houck sets up a block against Lima.

A St. Mary's Panther grapples with Joe Clark as he attempts to carry the ball over the goal line.

Swarming over the ball carrier, hustling Calverteers tackle Ivan for a big loss.



Cutting around the end, Frank Perna sprints for more valuable yardage as Joe Zirger helps clear the way.

Fund Raising Helps Support School;

Happy salesmen, Susan Hoffert, Catherine Welch, Thomas Dendinger, and Michael Fisher, await a patron's signature.

In "The Fatal Quest," part of Monsignor's feast day program, the duke, Philip Omlor, pleads with the king, Paul Shireman, for the hand of the lovely princess, Raymond McGinnis, as the anxious queen, Stephen Leahy, worries about the outcome.

Top magazine salesmen, Carl Stein, Susan Schultz, Alice Hoover, John Carrigan, and Kevin Leahy, look over the prize list with Sister M. Mark.

Juniors Jeanne Wank, Gerald Parkins, Saundra Stanton, Shirley Breidenbach, and Barbara Baumgardner receive their awards as high salesmen in the annual junior Christmas card sale from Father Mueller.

Court Honored at Homecoming; Fans

Left: Overcome with joy, Patricia Kirian covers her face as she is announced as Calvert's 1964 Homecoming Queen.

Senior officers Timothy Fox and George Pahl present the newly crowned Queen with a floral bouquet.

Jumping with enthusiasm, the fans cheer the team on to victory over Gibsonburg.

Patricia Kirian beams after being crowned at the annual Homecoming game. Her court includes Barbara Herbert, Martha Kummerer, Anne Weimerskirch, and Mary Beth Lutz.

Suspense mounts among Calvert fans as the fullback makes a desperate dash for the goal line.

Cheer Team On

Much of the spirit and enthusiasm of Calvert students is inspired by the cheerleaders: Jane Gaietto, Elaine Arrington, Mary Jane Welter, Susan Hoffert, Mary Jo Mathias, and Barbara Herbert.

These Calvert boys seem prepared to lead the fans in cheers for the team.

Senior class officer George Pahl dances with the queen.

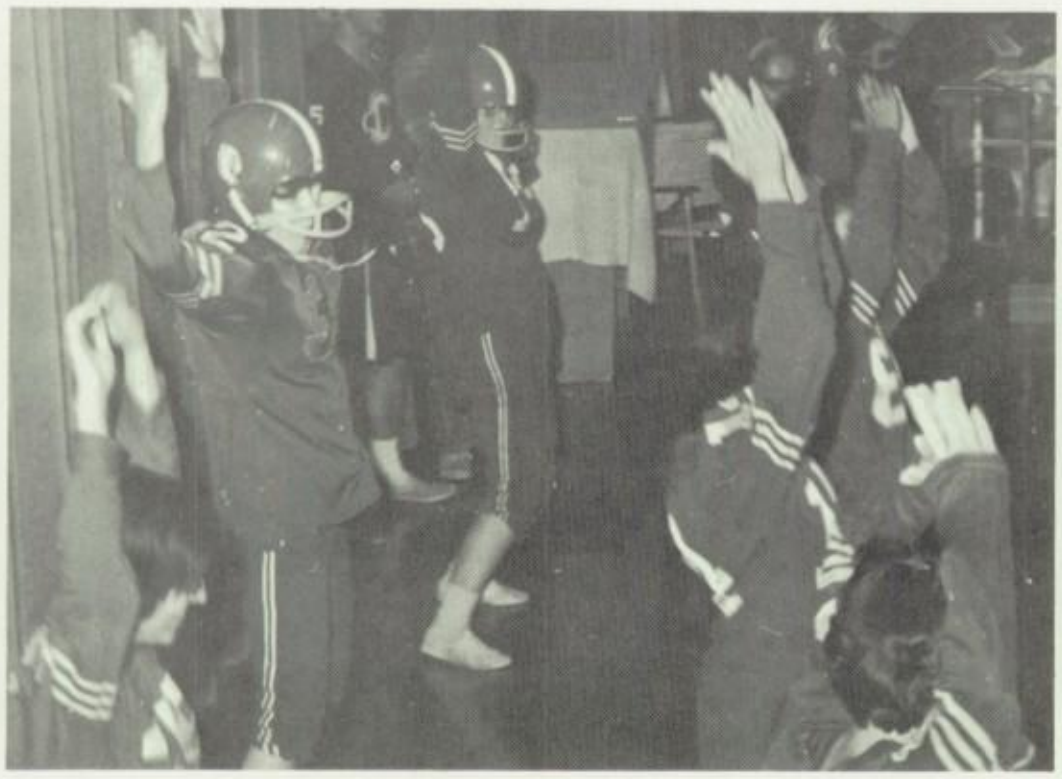
Fun Raising Helps Celebrate Feast

The queen screams in dismay as her loving husband is stabbed by the handsome duke.

The duke's corpse moves in order to save its life as the beautiful princess falls over dead.

Calvert's undefeated girls' football team displays its training techniques to Monsignor Dunn.



Singing "She Loves You," Calvert's own Beatles, Michael Margraf and Louis Kummerer, perform for Monsignor.

'Idiot' Provides Excitement, Draws

In "The Perfect Idiot," the senior class play, Dan Tennyson, Michael Fisher, is scolded by Mrs. Tennyson, Sue Ann Frankart, Mr. Tennyson, John Troiano, Miss Baker, Kathleen Grombka, Mr. Barbard, Kenneth Reiter, and Rhodore, Cecelia Houck.

Dan puts on a record for his dancing lesson with Linda Barnard, Linda Weithman.

The gang, Philip Omlor, Jan Banks, Kathleen Bland, Jane Gaietto, Kathleen Zimmer, Jolene Klein, Linda Weithman, marvel at Dan's power over Puff, Richard Mann.

Laughter

Discussing the unusual behavior of Dan are Mrs. Tennyson, a reporter, Catherine Welch, Mr. Latherby, Paul Shireman, Miss Baker, and Mr. Barnard.

Policemen Carl Stein and Douglas Huss listen to Mr. Latherby plead for his parsnips.

Dr. Von Barf, George Blust, finds two patients on his hands.

Thunderous Chants, Spirited Cheers

The men whose fighting spirit led Calvert during basketball season are: Rick Reinhart, Skeet Boes, Skip Zalar, Rog Dariano, Bob Streacker, Joe Houck, Dave Ritzler, Jim Steyer, Joe Zirger, and Coach Bob Leahy.

Adding pep and bounce to all reserve games are cheerleaders Ann Fisher, Janet Miletti, and Brenda Main.

Always keeping spirits high are the varsity cheerleaders, clockwise, Mary Jane Welter, Susan Hoffert, Mary Jo Mathias, Elaine Arrington, Jane Gaietto, and Barbara Herbert.

Dr. Von Barf, George Blust, finds two patients on his hands.

Various Extracurricular Activities

In the annual Christmas play, Michael Buckley, Thomas Shaver, and David Ritzler portray the Three Kings as they come to pay homage to the new-born Babe.

Joseph, Michael Margraf, and Mary, Rosemarie Aiello, watch as girls representing the nations of the world adore the Child Jesus.

Fill Spare Time of Active Seniors

Reading Caesar's Gallic Wars are Latin club officers, Daniel Scheiber, Patricia Herig, Geraldine Kuhn, Joseph Kuebler, and John Kirchner.

Sister Maurice shows the chemistry club officers, John Carrigan, Thomas Moes, Patricia Guthrie, and Marcus Rall, the basics of playing Chemo.

An art club project was decorating for the Athletic-band banquet. Officers Philip Omlor, Theresa Leahy, and Karen Barnhart, head the decorating team.

Spanish club officers, Susan Kleinhenz, Michael Sauber, and Michael Margraf, look on as Mrs. Willman locates the highest mountain in South America.

FTA officers, Mary Bush, Douglas Huss, Kathryn Dore, and Mary Beth Lutz, make plans for their next meeting.

Voila! Louis Kummerer feels ready to play the part of a Frenchman as fellow French club officer, Karen Barnhart places a beret on his head.

Ignoring attempts to ruffle his composure, Joe Houck launches the ball toward the net and two points.

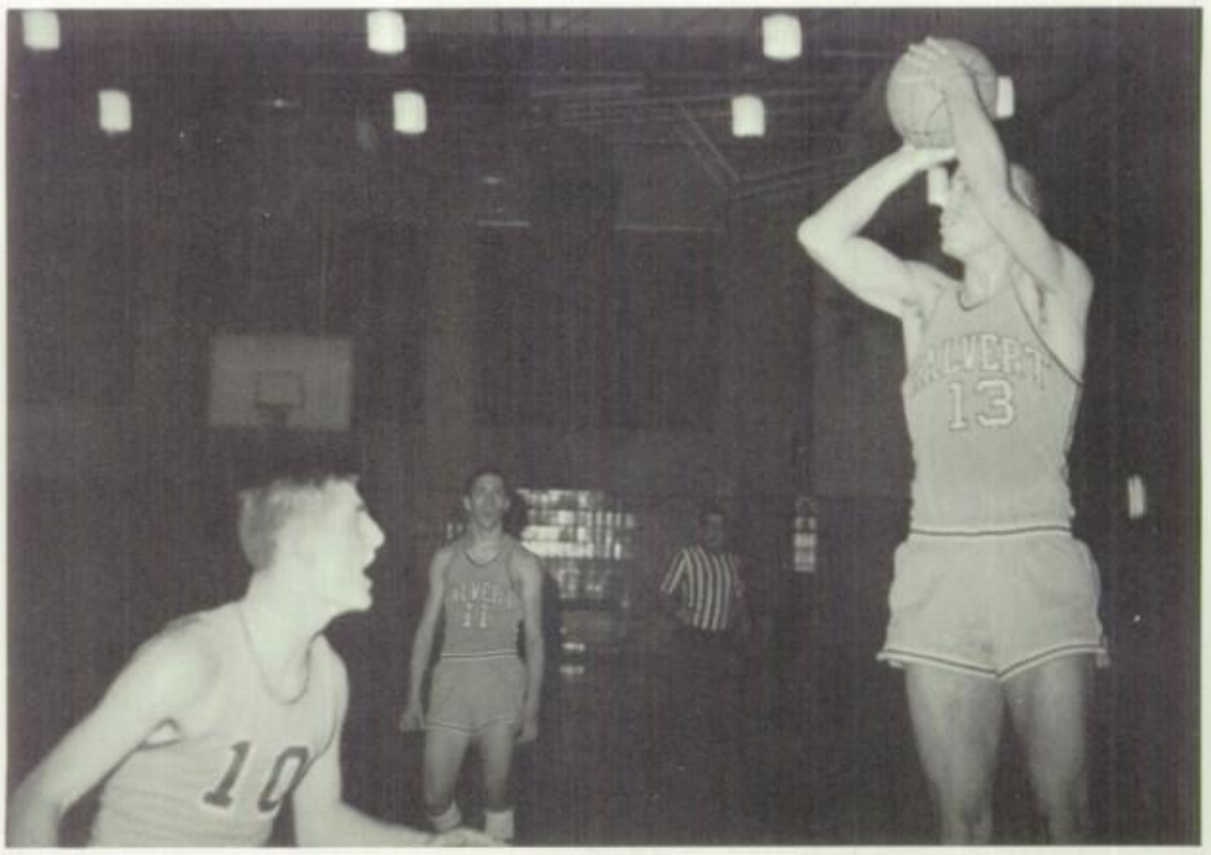
Waiting until the right moment, Joe Zirger hauls down a St. Joseph pass during its split-second flight.

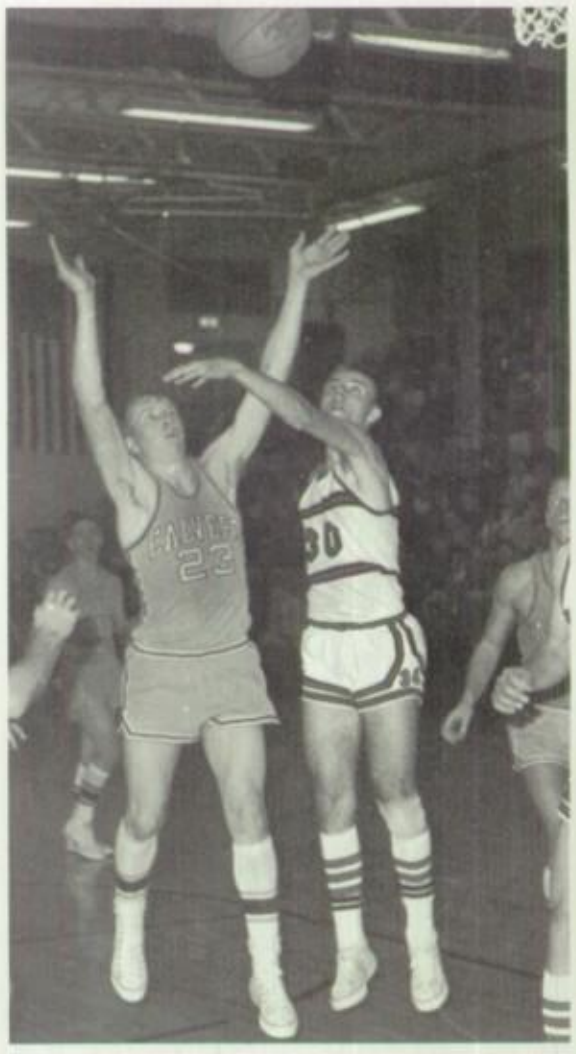


Suspended in mid-air, Joe Houck takes careful aim an instant before putting the ball in flight.

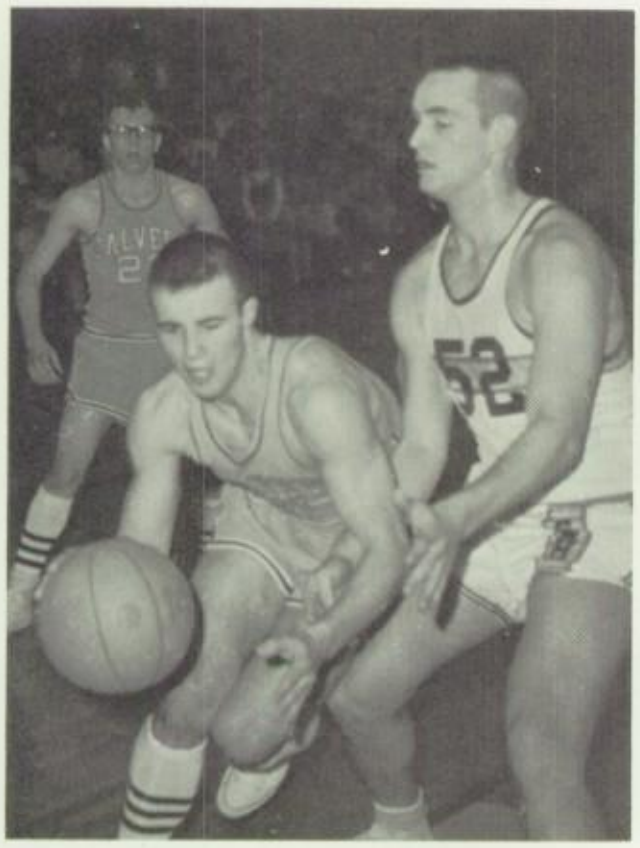
Scrambling Calverteers

The grim determination of Skeet Boes to up the Seneca's score is evident as he drives for a basket.

Leaving the surprised Upper opposition behind him, Dave Ritzler completes a fast break with a lay-up for two points.



All eyes follow the arch of Skeet Boes' shot as Joe Houck positions himself for a possible rebound.



Whipping around a St. Wendelin's defender, Rog Dariano acts to set the ball in play for the Senecas.

Watching his opponent's eyes is the secret of Jim Steyer's ability to steal balls.

Maneuver, Pivot, Shoot

St. Joseph receiver under-estimates the aggressiveness of Calvert's Dave Ritzler, hurtling in for an interception.

Effort exerted by Skeet Boes and Joe Houck equals and excels that of their Sandusky St. Mary's counterparts.

Manager Fred Caito soothes Jim Steyer's aches and pains after a hard-fought court contest.

Calvert News, Calvertana Staffs

Talking over ideas for the news page with their staff are co-editors Kathleen Grombka and Timothy Fox.

Editor-in-chief of The Calvert News, Thomas Dendinger, checks layouts.

Sports editor Joseph Nitecki and T. Fox wait for Sister Scholastica to approve their layouts.

Typists for the Calvert News gather to complete their assignments.

Busy checking their records are Calvert News and Calvertana business managers, Mary Jane Rohrbach, Michael Reino, and Kathleen Bland.

Finish Publications

Co-editors of the Calvertana are Roselyn Harlett and Kevin Leahy.

Members of the yearbook staff, Roselyn Harlett, George Blust, Joseph Kuebler, and Linda Weithman gather to plan layouts.

Sports editor Joseph Nitecki gives writers M. Gillig, P. Omlor, L. Breidenbach, R. Raitz, and M. Fisher their assignments.

Discussing a prospective yearbook picture are F. Ledwedge, C. Welch, G. Pahl, and B. Smith.

Working earnestly to meet the next Calvertana deadline are J. Rohrbach, M. J. Welter, E. Arrington, and J. Moore.

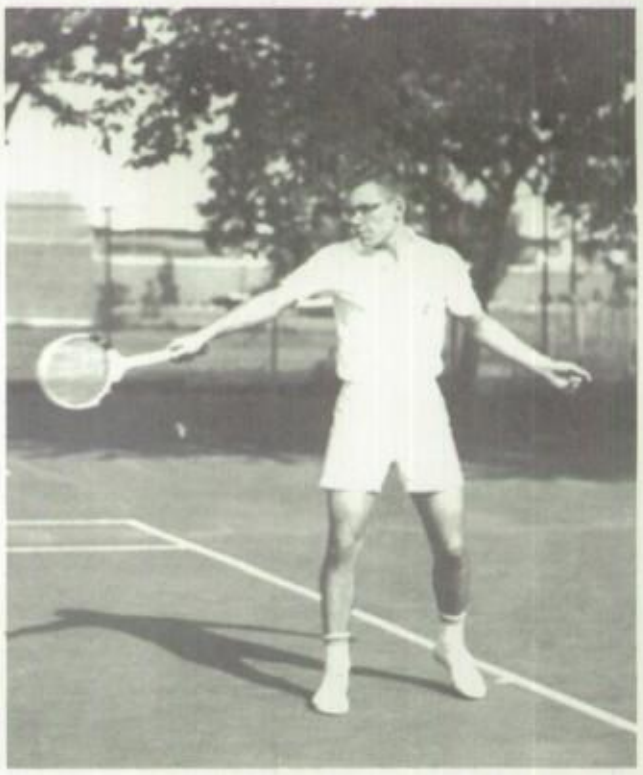
Feature editor Sue Ann Frankart gives assignments to S. Hohman, B. Simmons, C. Bryner, L. Hess, M. J. Rohrbach, A. Boes, and J. Kimmet.

New Varisty Sports Provide Students

Following through, Ann Fisher slams the ball over the net.

The ball is but a blur of speed as Don Hartsel brings his backhand stroke into play during a heated volley.

Quick reflexes and alertness aid Ann Callaghan as she prepares to return the ball.



Every muscle tensed, Rick Reinhart exhibits a strong backhand swing.

Eager to improve, Steve Leahy listens intently to the helpful suggestions presented by tennis coach, Rev. Paul Mueller.

with More Competitive Opportunities

As he prepares to tee off, Tom Cadwallader shows intense concentration.

In the tangle of arms, John Burger strains to pin his adversary to the mat.

Wrestling in the home ring, Jerry Gase gains two points in a reversal against Sandusky opponent.

Looking poised and confident, Alan Daniel takes a firm stance before swinging.

Golf coach, Mr. Joseph Kukoy, corrects an error in Frank Dore's back swing while teammates Mike Gillig and Chris Kloop wait their turns.

'Camelot,' Fabled Land of Chivalry,

Finding the proper material for Donald Wise's costume in the operetta is the problem of Patricia Shultz and Cheryl Lucius.

Helping direct the scenery for "Camelot," Philip Omlor explains to Daniel Bour, Stephen Meier, and Joseph Feasel what procedure to use.

King Arthur, Roger Dariano, and Guenevere, Alice Hoover, rehearse their lines for "Camelot."

Comes to Life As Calvert's Musical

Philip Omlor begins the long process of scenery making by painting basic sketches of "Camelot" props.

King Arthur, Roger Dariano, introduces his beloved Guenevere, played by Roselyn Harlett, to Lancelot, Michael Fisher.

Spring Presents New Conquests for Preparing to sacrifice an out, Frank Perna meets the ball with a bunt.

At bat for Calvert, Joe Clark waits for the decisive throw.

Capable infielders, Frank Perna and Dave Ritzler, stand ready for action.

Returning Veterans

On the mound for Calvert, Joe Houck stars as he delivers another fast pitch.

First baseman, Joe Zirger, keeps the opponent close to the bag.

Coaching at first, Tim Fox encourages Carl Werner as he tries to beat out the throw.

Three Calvert outfielders hustle for the ball to give Calvert the decisive play.

With grim determination, Dave Ritzler watches for the pitch.
